THE SPECTATOR

They Came by Foot, Motor, Train to Narberth Fireworks

Sergeant Charles Garvin, Fire Chief "Al" Nulty and other expert estimators won't say exactly how many spectators were on the Playground on the Fourth for the Fireworks Display, but they all agree it was the greatest throng ever and that a guess of about 20,000 would not be too far off the actual mark.

Over and above those on the field, the crowd spilled itself along Wynnewood Road for a full half-mile, with many of them on the railroad bank, despite the constant warning to find a safer place. Also they were mounted on the walls of the Gibson Estate and in fact some hardy ones were described as actually hanging from the trees.

They came from everywhere, up and down the Main Line, Delaware County, with trainloads from Philadelphia, the largest aggregation of visitors to Narberth in the Borough's history.

The Show itself was tops for all time, a 65-minute program of unceasing thrills, and the citizens paid for it in free-handed manner. More than $3000 may be realized when the final money count is made, which means there will be a nice substantial sum available for playground needs.

Chief honors for the grand success go to William P. Davies, General Chairman; William S. Howard, Evening Chairman, and Sterling Chain, Chairman of the Day, all of whom were serving their first term on the July Fourth Committee and who demonstrated a talent for direction that made this year's occasion the most notable of all the years. Carl B. Metzger, Jr., performed as usual as the Treasurer, and what would the town do without him!

Walter G. Case provided the loud-speaking arrangements, brand-new equipment that made a big hit with the crowd. Fred Dannenhauer supplied the records, which were selected in experienced manner to correspond with the kind of piece which was being fired, the Bridal March for the Niagara Falls display, the Donkey Serenade for Joe Megarity's Democratic symbol etc., etc.

The day-time program carried on in splendid manner on the basis of the plans originally devised by Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, honorary chairman, now on an enforced vacation because of health. The stamp of her excellent design was everywhere apparent and those who shared her various tasks of other years will be the first to acclaim the genius of that infinite capacity for detail, imagination and enterprise which have so well assured the success of "Narberth Day" in all the years to come. She is a sweet whiff of a woman, is Lady Mueller, but it is evident she packs a great wallop when it comes to getting things done in an unsurpassed way.

Town Talk

By ANNE B. MCLELLAN

We hear that the Narberth Italian-American Club is going to apply for a liquor license in the near future. . . . the 15-year-old club is on Iona Ave., and has had a beer license for the past ten years or so.

Fred Dannenhauer, Jr., sponsor of radio station WPEN's teen-ager show, "So You Want to Be a Disc Jockey," tells us that because of the unusually fine garden facilities at his Narberth store at 102 Essex Ave., the Saturday afternoon broadcast will be made from there until further notice. . . . originally he had planned to stage the show at his Bala-Cynwyd store on alternate Saturdays. . . . the show runs from 2:30 to 3 P. M.

Clever Jean Marie Gold, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gold, of 210 Woodbine Ave., was awarded a part scholarship to Notre Dame Academy at Villanova, by St. Margaret's School in the Borough. . . . a graduate of St. Margaret's, Jean won the highest scholastic award given by the school at the end of the year.

For those who have been wondering about Bill Jennings' whereabouts since he got out of the Marines, we hear he's studying at the University of North Carolina, and loving it. . . . he's a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity there and is now attending summer school.

The Boro's Lily Wright is in Ocean City for a couple of weeks. . . . she heads the music and record department at Davis' Record Shop in Ardmore.

Bob Tabor is mighty busy these days. . . . during the days he's a teler for the Pennsylvania Company, and in the evenings he supervises the Narberth playground. . . . his "spare time" he devotes to playing baseball for Narberth.

We understand that neighbors Pat Krauskopf and Lois Scherck, both of Lantwyn Lane, are room-

Crash Shakes Up Two Youngsters

Mother Loses Control Of Car After Bryn Mawr Collision

While riding in a car operated by their mother, Mary Hansel, nine, and her brother, Thomas, seven, were badly shaken up shortly after midnight Tuesday in an automobile accident at Bryn Mawr and Haverford Aves., Bryn Mawr.

Mrs. Kathryn E. Bawn, mother of the children, told Radnor police she was returning to her home on Main Ave., Berwyn, when the accident occurred. According to Mrs. Bawn, a car operated by Walter Michels, professor of physics at Bryn Mawr College, pulled out of Bryn Mawr Ave. as she was proceeding west on Haverford Ave.

After colliding with Michels' car, Mrs. Bawn lost control of her vehicle and smashed through a four-foot cyclone fence at the intersection.

Neighbors aroused by the crash carried the children to the accident ward of Bryn Mawr Hospital less than a block away.

Mrs. Bawn said that her daughter had recently undergone an operation for appendicitis while her son's left arm had been broken less than two weeks ago.

Both children were released from the hospital after treatment.

Narberth Festival Sidelights

It's a shame that the galaxy of white mice entered in the pet show weren't quite unique enough to win a prize. It's the first time in many years that such a group has been entered.

Charlie Thaw was slightly awed when a tiny girl claimed a very large cap pistol which had been lost, after several bigger boys claimed they were looking for a smaller one.

Speaking of lost and found, the day's articles included one lost youngster, several pairs of sun glasses, a key case plus one key, an ice pick and the large cap pistol. Not bad for a gathering of several thousand people.

It was amusing to watch the parents of youngsters entered in the sports events. They were going through all sorts of motions in an effort to help their children win their races. In fact they did everything but run the races for them.

When it came time for the married men to race, 25 men entered. Three ended up flat on their faces on the turf, about three yards from the finish line.

Sterling Chain, chairman for a day, was a little upset at the start of the rolling pin throw. . . . no rolling pin.

And half way through the rolling pin throw, the onlookers began to see why Charlie Thaw, at the microphone, had warned them to stand back. The rolling pin began to go everywhere but where it was supposed to.

The antique show, which seemed to be smaller than in previous years, included hundreds of dolls, stamps, rugs, pipes, paintings, powder horns and antique chairs, tables and pictures, among other items.

The grand parade at the end of the sports events, which was led by amiable "Doc" Howard, almost covered the whole playground, and as it ended at the broadcasting truck, each participant received a favor. Doc was proud of the kids in the parade because they all stayed in line with very little pushing and shoving to be first.

League Re-forms For Basketball

During the summer of 1941, a senior boys' basketball league was organized at the Narberth Playground, mainly through the efforts of members of the Lower Merion High School State championship team.

Again in 1942, when the L. M. team had won State laurels for the second time, the league again was active, and late in August, play-offs were scheduled, and the playground championship was won by a team which included Heindel, Bailey, Middleton, Gibbon, Jones, Paine, Davis and Welsh.

This year, the league is again in during the war. The teams and the players are:

EARL E. YOUNG NAMED CONFERENCE DELEGATE

Earl E. Young, of 2823 Belmont Ave., Ardmore, charge Lay Leader of the Ardmore Methodist Church, has been appointed Lay Delegate from the West Philadelphia District, to attend the Interdenominational Missionary Conference to be held July 16 to 23.

E. W. Barnes, former executive secretary of the Main Line Y. M. C. A., is executive director of the Silver Bay Association, International Camp of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. on Lake George, where the Missionary Conference will be held.

LIONS TO MEET JULY 15

The next regular meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd Lions Club will be held Tuesday, July 15, at the home of Joseph Dolan, Jr., of 125 Union Ave., Bala-Cynwyd. There will be no meeting Tuesday, July 8.

Injured by Swing On Playground

Twenty four hours after being struck with a swing on the Narberth Playground, two-and-a-half-year-old William J. McKee, Jr., son of Staff Sergeant and Mrs. William J. McKee, 406 Dudley Ave., Narberth, was rushed to the Bryn Mawr Hospital suffering with a possible fracture of the skull.

Physicians said that the child had been struck with a swing early Monday afternoon and that he returned home with his sister, Judy, 12 years. On Tuesday afternoon his mother noticed that he had become paralyzed on the left side. She summoned a family physician who ordered the child removed to the hospital.

An emergency brain operation for the removal of what physicians thought to be a blood clot was delayed pending consultation with a brain specialist.

Sgt. McKee is now stationed in Germany and is expecting to be transferred to a new station. His family was planning to join him after the transfer.

Frankel Wins Another Round in 2-Year Battle to Build Apartments

Ephraim J. Frankel, real estate promoter, won another round last week in his two-year battle for permission to build an apartment house in Merion.

His victory came in an opinion handed down by Judge Harold G. Knight in the case brought against Frankel by Lower Merion Township, the Merion Civic Association, Dr. Albert C. Barnes, Joseph D. and Viola V. Malkin and the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club.

Judge Knight dismissed 153 exceptions to the findings of fact, conclusions of law and decrees which he issued last December 31. The exceptions had been filed by the plaintiffs. The December 31 decree had dismissed the bill and imposed the costs on the plaintiffs.

Frankel's plan is to build a six-story apartment house at the southwest corner of Old Lancaster Rd. and North Latches Lane, Merion.

On July 16, 1945, a building permit was issued to him by the Lower

Merion building inspector on order of the Montgomery County court. However, as a result of a suit filed by Lower Merion Township, the court later issued a temporary injunction restraining Frankel from proceeding with his plans, and the project was postponed pending a final court decision.

The township, in its injunction suit, pointed out that even though the permit had been issued, the local ordinance provides "that an appeal from the decision of an administrative officer of the township to the board of adjustment stays all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from."

The bill further declared: "On August 1, 1945, the Board of Township Commissioners adopted an amendment to the Lower Merion Zoning Ordinance of 1929, as amended, and by means of the said amendment reclassified . . . defendant's proposed apartment site as R-3 Residence District in-

Bala Death Mars Traffic Record

Lower Merion township marred a five-county record of no automobile deaths over the July 4th holiday with the only fatal motor accident reported in the area.

According to traffic surveys of Montgomery, Delaware, Philadelphia, Bucks, and Chester counties, the only automobile death during the 72-hour peak holiday traffic period was that of Owen Smith, Fitzgerald, 68, of the Kenmore Apartments, 54th and City Line, Bala, who died in Bryn Mawr Hospital, Saturday morning.

The victim was struck as he crossed City Line at 54th St. about 2:40 A. M. Saturday, and died shortly before noon the same day.

William Messick, 48, of 905 Chestnut St., Collingdale, driver of the car which struck Smith, told Lower Merion police that the victim stepped into the side of the car as Messick neared the intersection.

Residents of the apartment house in which Fitzgerald lived said that

ATTENDANCE 13,243

AT L.M. PLAYGROUNDS

An attendance of 13,243 at Lower Merion's playgrounds for the week ending June 28 was reported to the Township School Board Monday.

The high attendance was attributed to the good weather.

The South Ardmore Park and the Ardmore Avenue grounds led the list with attendances of 3645 and 2735, respectively.

Booths Do Brisk Business; Pet Show Draws Crowd

A crowd estimated at more than 20,000 thrilled to Narberth's gigantic 52-minute fireworks show last Friday night at the Borough Playground.

The thundering, sparkling rain-bow display topped off a Fourth of July celebration crammed with good times for everyone.

Largest Crowd in History

As dusk fell, and the first rockets shot into the air, the huge crowd packed the playground, overflowed onto the railroad embankment, and even lined the hills back of the Wynnewood Park Apartments to watch the display. It was the largest crowd ever to attend the annual show. A new feature of the evening program was the playing of recorded music throughout the fireworks display.

William P. Davies, general chairman of the Fourth of July committee, gave a short talk before the display.

Opening Exercises

The day's program got off to a perfect start at 10 A. M., Friday, after brief ceremonies conducted by Sterling M. Chain, chairman of the Day Committee.

The opening exercises included a talk by Burgess Richard L. Miller; the salute to the flag, led by Burns F. Best, of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, and the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," led by Mrs. Joseph Baker. Throughout the day, booths, sponsored by clubs, churches and other Borough organizations, did a rushing business, selling everything from sandwiches and doughnuts to aprons and afghans.

"Doc" Howard Led Parade

At the close of the morning program of sports events, some 700 children who participated in the races and games joined in a gigantic parade, led by William F. "Doc" Howard.

The annual pet show, which started at 1:30 P. M. in a roped-off area near the tennis courts, drew a large attendance of interested spectators, both young and old.

Pet Show Winners

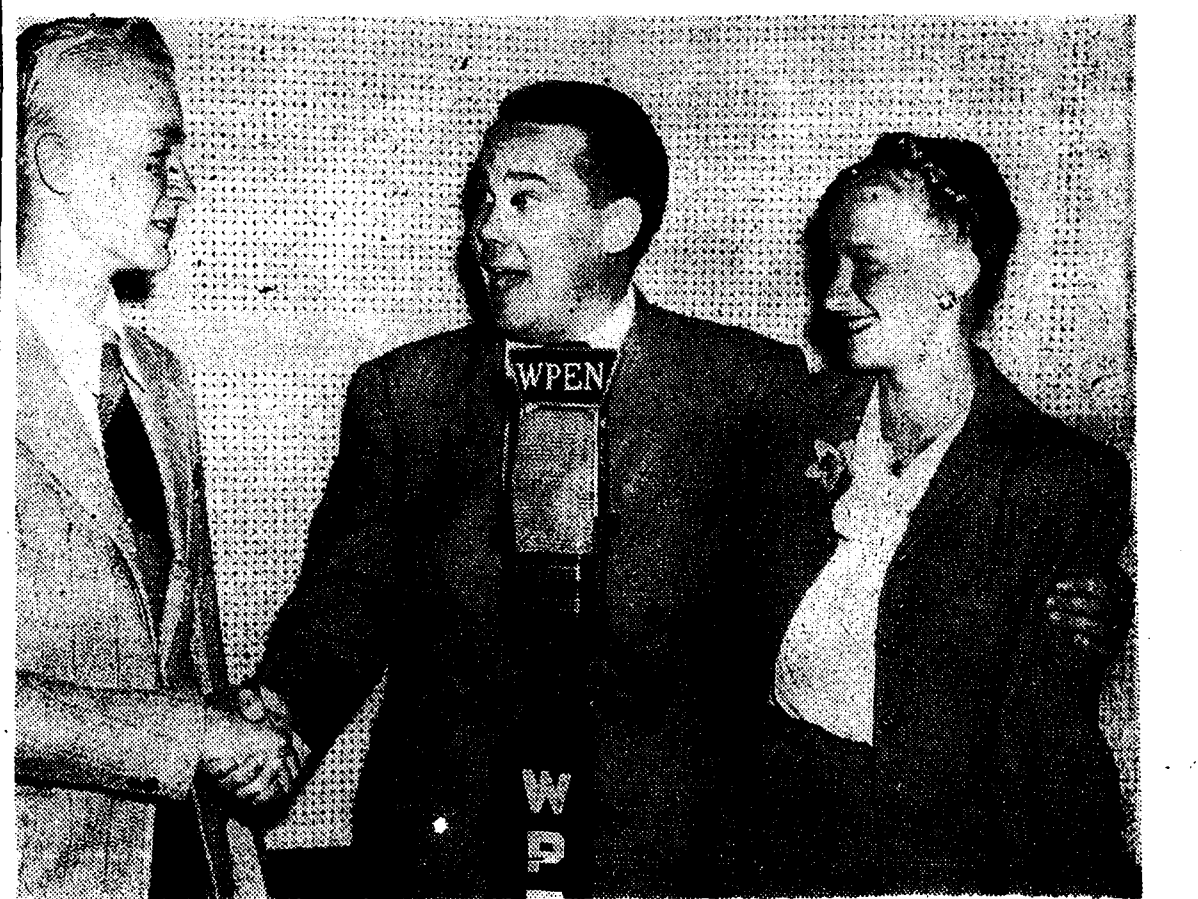

Pet show winners were: John Morrill for the smallest dog; Ray Munder for the largest dog; Ed Sidwell for the best trained dog; Jack Pender for the longest-haired dog; Norman Henry for the shortest-haired dog; Glenn Harris for the best cat; John McClintock for the best kitten; Jili Morrill for the funniest small animal; a dog; Dick Tafel for the most unique animal—a guinea pig. First on the full day's schedule was the baby show and costume parade for the youngsters. Prizes were awarded by the judges, Samuel Barclay, Mrs. Howard Cotter, Jr., and Mrs. E. M. Parran, for the fattest, curliest hair, most serious, and most captivating smile; most patriotic, original, funniest, and most old-fashioned costume. URGES VETS TO APPLY FOR TERMINAL LEAVE PAY AND REINSTATE INSURANCE

County Director of Veterans Affairs Norman L. John made two announcements this week of importance to veterans of World War II who have up to this time failed to have their war insurance reinstated, or who have failed to make application for terminal leave pay. Expiration date for reinstatement of insurance policies without a new physical examination is August 1. This may be done with the payment of premiums extending over a period of two months. Last date for applications for terminal leave pay is September 1. "There will be no extension of this privilege after that date," said John, "and inasmuch as several million veterans are yet to be heard from it is advisable that those in the Montgomery County area numbering many, act without delay. Our office in Room 107 in the Court House annex will be glad to extend its services to any veteran who calls to file applications."

Trim off the tops or leaves of root vegetables before storing. The reason? During growth the leaves manufacture sugar, protein and other nutrients, passing them down to the roots for storage. After vegetables are pulled from the ground the leaves begin to withdraw nourishment. They should be stored in the refrigerator, too, for warm air dries them out in a short time.

WASHINGTON LETTER

'Stubborn' Resistance and 'Outcry' Chadwick Raps Labor, Truman for

By E. WALLACE CHADWICK
Delaware County Congressman

Passage of the Labor Bill was accomplished in an atmosphere, first of stubborn and uncompromising resistance, and then of clamorous outcry, from the leaders of Organized Labor. We were simply delayed with telegrams, letters and postcards; the halls of the Office Buildings were filled with delegations; you yourselves no doubt saw the pages of newspaper advertising. I had reminded you in a previous letter that there is nothing extraordinary about the attitude of these Labor leaders; the tendency to abuse power is apparently as natural as is the desire to gain it, and Labor leaders are not exempt from this weakness. No one likes to have his own privileges curtailed; but the time always comes when misused power has to be curbed, and the balance readjusted.

None of us expected that this law would be welcome to Organized Labor; we all foresaw that there would be a violent reaction from them against it; and we none of us forget that we must all face this reaction at the polls next year. Therefore loud threats of opposition now leave us cold; but none of us want any of our people to believe that we have been either stupid or reckless, malicious or prejudiced, in this matter. Somebody has to think, and act, for the best interest of the whole country now and then, or we won't have any country worth thinking about before long.

I do not have space to discuss the President's veto of this bill; suffice it to say that President Truman, unlike Patrick Henry, would apparently rather be President than be right. His veto, and particularly

Your Veterinarian's Timely Tips

By DR. J. DAVID SCHAEFFER
Your dog leads an artificial life—so do you. You probably would do well to use vitamins and so would your dog. This goes for cats, too. All life requires vitamins, and present diet is frequently such in domesticated animals as to require supplement.

Vitamin deficiency, which are more often multiple than single, may result in lowered vitality, decreased appetite, dull haircoat, impaired reproductive functions, decreased rare growth in the young, especially when such deficiencies and other signs of general ill health, have been prolonged.

Not all the known vitamins are required by the dog. Vitamin "C," for example, is not required and its deficiency in the diet causes no suffering or illness. Authorities generally agree that dogs synthesize this vitamin in their own body and are perhaps the only animal capable of the process. Vitamin "A" promotes growth, is highly important in the animal's resistance against disease—particularly infections of the ear, eye, nose and throat. It is also important in its co-operation with Vitamin D, to prevent bone troubles.

Good food sources are carrots and fresh cod liver oil. Vitamin "B" should actually be only a classification, for now it is recognized to be subdivided into six or more divisions commonly known as the "B-Complex."

B-1 is important in maintaining relaxation of the nervous system and is frequently required by high-strung, restless dogs. Keenness of appetite is promoted by this vitamin. Metabolism or proper absorption of food is partly effected by the balance of this factor also. Eggs and most cereal grains contain this ingredient.

B-2 or Riboflavin is important for its function in cases of cataracts and obscurities of the eye, for should follow direction as indicated general health, and for long span in the individual case.

Life. Milk and liver are rich sources.

Liver contains a certain amount, but animal flesh is generally deficient as a source, hence the abundance of skin troubles in dogs fed mostly on meat. Grains such as rice, bran and wheat are best sources.

Nicotinic Acid is another of the "B" factors and has specific activity in preventing the disease known as "Black Tongue." As treatment it is frequently given by hypodermic injection. It is also important in diseases of the skin and intestinal tract. Here again, cereal grains are the richest source. Other B factors may be regarded as a group and are generally concerned in welfare of the nerves and skin. Certain amounts are found in cereal grains so deficiencies are not expected when ample amounts of other B factors are supplied.

Vitamin D is the familiar sunshine vitamin; but when one thinks of closely confined apartment house dogs of the big cities, one realizes quickly the need for supplementing the diet with this vitamin. In young animals large quantities are required for proper bone development. Rickets are the most commonly known disease to be aggravated by insufficiency of Vitamin D. In adult animals it enhances disease resistance and helps reproductive activities. Milk, sunshine, fresh cod liver oil are best sources.

Vitamin E is familiar among breeders and kennel owners as the one desired for fertility and large litters. While it is certainly not a cure-all in breeding troubles, its presence in generous quantities reduced difficulties in both male and female animals. Wheat germ oil is correctly called its best source, and other cereal grains contain it in varying amounts.

Competent advice should be sought by the dog owner before vitamins are purchased regarded as a means of prevention rather than a cure, and use as treatment should follow direction as indicated in the individual case.

John A. Lafore, Jr. Given Organization Backing For County Controller

The Montgomery County Repub- lican Organization gave its nod last week to another Lower Merion Township citizen for a major county office.

He is John A. Lafore, Jr., resident of Haverford and chairman of the Lower Merion Republican Committee.

His petitions are already in cir- culation for the Republican nom- ination as a candidate for con- troller at the September 9 primary. The office is now held by Dr. Frank P. K. Barker, Gladwyne resident and dentist, who is expected to retire.

Although he has never held public office, Lafore in the capacity of party worker, has served in many campaigns which have resulted in the election of present Township, County and State office holders.

His nomination will place on the party's ticket a veteran of World War II. A member of the Naval Reserve he was called into service in June, 1942, and served until November, 1945, emerging with the rank of lieutenant commander.

Active for 15 years
 Lafore has been active in Lower Merion Township and Montgomery County Republican politics for 15 years. He was a member of the original group who backed Fred C. Peters, Ardmore county commis- sioner, for party leader of Mont- gomery County, a position he now holds. For two years before the war he was treasurer of the Mont- gomery County Republican Com- mittee, resigning when he entered the service.

Lafore, a native Montgomery countian, was born May 25, 1905, at Bala, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lafore, Penn Valley Farms, Penn Valley. His father is a retired Philadelphia paper manufacturer.

Lafore attended Lower Merion schools, Montgomery School, Swarthmore College and the Uni- versity of Pennsylvania.

His first business venture was

MOREAU de ST. MERY'S AMERICAN JOURNEY, translated and edited by Kenneth and Anna Roberts. (Doubleday, 374 pp., $5.)

The charm of Kenneth Roberts is double-barrelled. He is a competent, expert, consistently interesting writer, with a commendable aversion to anything dull. And he is an indefatigable, scholarly and patient researcher into early Americana.

The happy results have always been pure entertainment salted with the truth.

If this research is an occupation which uncovers much material like Moreau de St. Mery's American Journey, I can imagine no nicer work. It is a diary and a series of notes compiled by a Frenchman of position, a man of letters and education, a Creole refugee from the revolution of San Domingo, who spent the years between 1783 and 1798 in America, and diligently set down his observations, opinions, and conclusions about a new and strange country. St. Mery is frank, unquestionably honest and probably truthful.

Above all, St. Mery is never dull. Here, if you're interested, is history. Here is what it was like to sail from France to America in a brig; here are notes on Norfolk and Portsmouth, the journey up the Chesapeake to Baltimore and from there through Frenchtown and Newcastle to Philadelphia. Here in detail is the stage trip from Philadelphia to New York, a two or three-day project in those days. There are pages of the most human observations on New York, the streets, the buildings, the people, the economy down to lists of what things cost.

Above all, and naturally most interesting locally, is Moreau's record of three and a half years as a bookshop proprietor at Second and Walnut Streets in Philadelphia. He observed, and set down, just about everything. His observations of the women, of morality, of the Congress, the bedbugs, the food, the prices, the public buildings, the drinking water, the weather, his correspondence with Talleyrand and La Rochefoucauld, his acquaintance with Alexander Hamilton and Stephen Girard, a hundred and one other details.

Why this material was never translated before is one of those mysteries. Kenneth Roberts, researching for "Lydia Bailey" and engaged specifically with early Philadelphia, found repeated references to St. Mery's account, but could find no translation. So with typical diligence and the assistance of Mrs. Roberts, he made his own translation.

This sort of patience is one of the things which makes Kenneth Roberts far and away the top historical novelist of our time. I have an unequivocal conviction that "Lydia Bailey," "Rabbits in Arms," "Oliver Wiswell," and "Lydia Bailey" should be required reading for every high school student, and a feeling that the truth never hurt anyone. "Northwest Passage," while concerned with an earlier time, is of course an American classic. The books are robust, exciting, entertaining, provocative, authentic and their stories are told by a professional who recognizes the basic requirement of good fiction. It must never be dull.

W. LESTER BANES DIES IN PENFIELD

W. Lester Banes, senior partner of Banes and Mayer, Philadelphia box manufacturers and lithographers and an early resident of Haverford township, died at his home, 622 Merion Ave., Penfield, on July 3. He was 60.

One of the founders of the Union Methodist Church of Brookline, Mr. Banes was active in civic affairs and was instrumental in founding the Brookline Square Club. He was also a member of the Poor Richard Club, Philadelphia and the Lancaster Country Club. A Mason, he was a member of the Blue Lodge of Philadelphia and the Shriners.

Mr. Banes is survived by his wife, Sophie Banes, and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Banes Jarboe, of Ardmore. Funeral services were conducted from his late residence by Rev. Arthur W. Walls, former rector of the Union Methodist Church, with interment in Arlington Cemetery, Drexel Hill.

Know Your State

Our Low Record of Public Employment

In a recent release of the United States Bureau of the Census on Government Employment, it was shown that Pennsylvania, in addition to being one of the most economically important states in the Nation, is also one of the most economically minded. The number of public employees, Federal State and local, per 1000 inhabitants in the Commonwealth amounts to the relatively low total of 34.8. When this figure is further analyzed, it shows 12.4 Federal employees, 9.2 school employees and 13.2 non-school employees per 1000 people required to carry out all Government functions within the State. This compares with 69.2 public employees per thousand inhabitants in California, 45.3 per thousand in New York, 41.2 in Ohio, 40.5 in Massachusetts and 38.1 in New Jersey. Thus the ratio of public employees to the population is substantially lower in our State than in any others that reasonably compare with it in numbers.

If one considers merely the State and local employees per thousand inhabitants, Pennsylvania is far down in the list. Thirty-eight States have a higher number of State and local government employees per thousand population than Pennsylvania, and the eight States lower than Pennsylvania in the number of employees necessary to carry out all non-Federal Government functions are all non-industrial States in the South.

In these days of increased Government functions and the high overhead which that fact imposes on the people of the United States, it is gratifying to realize that Pennsylvania's State and local governments have conducted their affairs with a minimum of workers on the public payroll.

Give the other fellow a chance to talk first and you will avoid many mistakes and much embarrassment.—R.R.U.

Keep your hair at its loveliest during summer months by shampooing as often as it needs it. And remember that the sun is an excellent "drier." After drying, brush hair with a clean brush, bending over from the waist to let the blood run down to the head as you brush.

Don't start your vacation with dog-eared luggage. Wipe leather pieces carefully to remove dust and grime. Then if there are badly scuffed places touch them up with a paste shoe polish to match. Fabric luggage should be brushed and spots cleaned with a good liquid cleaner.

If hands are chilled in icy water before handling raw fish, the odor won't cling (so they tell me).

To measure molasses, honey or syrup without waste, grease measuring cup lightly with vitaminized margarine.

Here's a pretty earring for the younger set. Make rosettes of lace using pretty buttons for the center and attach to plastic earring backs. They're very fetching with party frocks.

Keep parsley, watercress and mint leaves fresh and color bright by washing thoroughly, draining and storing in the refrigerator. Then they're ready to garnish any meat platter.

When tabs fall off the end of the youngsters' shoestrings, coat the end with clear nail polish and let dry thoroughly.

LITTLE THINGS about the Stars

By GEORGE LILLEY

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Pat O'Brien, who started out to become a lawyer, and Lynn Bari, who crashed the movies as a dancer, are for the first time stars of a radio program. They are heard on the Friday night (NBC) "Summer Theater," until Jimmy Durante returns to take over the spot in the fall.

William Joseph Patrick O'Brien, 48, will play the radio role of a small-town druggist ("Dan Carson"), Miss Bari that of a nurse. O'Brien long has shunned radio. He's mike shy. He can eat very little the day of a broadcast. He thinks in one horrible second a radio actor could make a blunder that would ruin a life-time career. He guesses big, bluff Irishmen are "timid that way."

"ELECTRIC" LINES

Peggy Lee: Among the "hottest" in popularity of the current gal singers, Peggy discovered her appealing style and low singing style by accident. Frightened when she learned that Jack Benny was listening to her perform a while back, she helplessly dropped into the subbed register. Peggy previously sang loud, sharp and on-the-beat for the old "Hit Parade." The Jamestown, N. D., blonde, effective July 12, becomes star of the "Summer Electric Hour," Sunday afternoons via CBS. Co-star: 32-year-old Woodrow Wilson Herman, clarinet wizard and singer, known better as "Woody." The two will be supported by Dave Barbour and a well-violated orchestra. Name musical guest stars will be around. The first: Diana Lynn.

HERE'S "THE LIGHT"

"The Guiding Light," popular 10-year-old inspirational series, is back on the radio after a six months hiatus Monday through Friday afternoons via CBS. The familiar dramas, which deal with a minister ("Dr. Charles Matthews") and the problems of members of his underprivileged community, come probably the most highly commended of the daytime radio series. Few leading social and religious organizations have overlooked recommending the program—the Nat'l. Congress of Parents and Teachers, Nat'l. Conference of Churches of America, and, for good measure, the U. S. Navy Department. Famous serialist Ina Phillips created the show. Hugh Studebaker, a six-foot Midwesterner who hates backslappers and political arguments, plays "Dr. Matthews."

Very Little Things

Geraldine Wall, featured in the movie "Big Boy," is sister of Lucille, queen of the serial show, "Portia Faces Life," afternoons (NBC) from New York. Success keeps them apart. . . . Grace Matthews, star of CBS' afternoon "Big Sister," recently solved her housing shortage. But she had to move virtually into the Atlantic Ocean to do it. Her Long Island summer cottage at high tide is three steps from the water. . . . William Keighley, director of CBS Monday night "Radio Theater," top ranked dramatic show, loves fruit salad keeps the provisions a lemon, orange, avocado, tangerine and peach tree—handy on his lawn.

Township Board To Recommend Change of Zoning

Tavern May Be Torn Down to Make Way For Store

Owners of the 200-year-old, his- and Martin Aves., Bryn Mawr.

Although the zoning board lacks the power to make the decision, it will recommend to the township commissioners that the part of the property abutting on Lancaster Ave. be given a business classification-concession from the Haverford town. Buck Tavern won a partial Township Board of Zoning Adjustment last Tuesday night to change the zoning of their property on the southwest corner of Lancaster Ave.

If the change is granted the William Penn. will be demolished to make way for a modern store building.

Neither the owners of the property nor the more than 200 residents, who crowded the public hearing room in the Municipal Building at Oakmont last Tuesday night, are interested in preserving the tavern.

At present it is being used as an apartment house.

Even when some of the residents argued that the tavern should be preserved as a landmark it was an attorney for the petitioners who suggested how they could do it. The attorney, Edward H. Bryant, Jr., told them they should take up a collection among the residents and buy the property. No one in the hearing room seemed inclined to take up his proposal.

The petitioners and owners, Mary Martin and her son, Harry, and daughter, Gertrude, were present for the hearing. They were represented by Bryant and William Alexander Hamilton, attorneys.

Residents were represented by John Arthur Brown and Thomas F. Doran, a Montgomery County attorney.

S. Herbert Lyons, chairman of the zoning board, presided at the hearing.

The Martins informed the zoning board that they would be willing to stipulate in the agreement of sale with a buyer that the property could never be used as a site for a night club or drinking tavern. They presented an architect's sketch of a one-story commercial building that they would like to see built on the property if the zoning change was allowed.

The Martins said that real estate agents for the property, I. Seltzer and Co., had had several requests about the property but no one wanted it because of the residential classification.

Of the 200 residents present for Tuesday night's hearing, 20 of these had received notices to attend as abutting property owners. There were only three of these who indicated they would favor a zoning change of any description.

They were the Rev. Rafter, pastor of the Mother of Good Counsel Church, who said he favored the change if it would be for the best interests of the community; Edward J. Helm, owner of the Penn. Body Company, 574 Lancaster Ave., and William Wiley, merchant, at 592 Lancaster Ave.

Rather than ask for a zoning exception for the entire tract the Martins said at the beginning of the hearing that they would be satisfied if the front half of the property, bordering on Lancaster Ave., was zoned as business, while the rear of the property remained under the residential classification. This would give them a business frontage of approximately 100 feet on Lancaster Ave., 50 feet on County Line Rd. and 170 feet on Martin Ave.

Mrs. M. K. Norris, who lives at 569 Lancaster Ave. and occupies a house which was formerly part of the Martin estate, said that demolition of the Buck Tavern would change the atmosphere of the entire street.

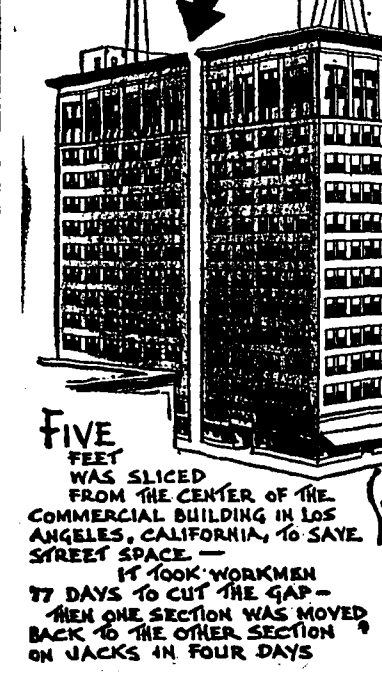

"If there was a store building erected," she said, "I would hate to be facing stone walls."

The entire Martins tract consists of 1.2 acres and the zoning appeal they expect to make to the commissioners would change about 40 per cent of the property into a business zone.

Paper washcloths are due on the market soon. The manufacturers claim that these cloths, made of specially treated paper, will last for months.

3 Polio Cases in Haverford Twp., None in Lower Merion or Narberth

Three cases of infantile paralysis were reported in Haverford Township this week, the first of the year.

Two of the cases, reported by health officer D. N. Ross, were in the Upland Park section of the Township, and the other in Merion Golf Manor.

A check with Robert Thomas, Lower Merion health officer, and George B. Supple, Narberth Borough health officer, revealed that these are the first Main Line suburban paralysis cases to be reported this year.

Those stricken were: Mrs. Mary McCloskey, of 504 Virginia Ave., Upland Park, and Susan Heyd, 5, of 605 Virginia Ave., Upland Park, and Jacqueline Bradley, 14, of 237 Merwood Lane, Merion Golf Manor.

Susan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Heyd, Jr., was taken ill June 27, and has been quarantined at home by her physician. She is reported to have visited the McCloskey home before being taken ill.

Two Victims of Fourth Accidents

Daniel Martin, 62, of 2813 St. Mary's Rd., Ardmore Park, and James A. White, 17, of 1300 Haverford Rd., Ardmore, both of Haverford Township, lost their lives over the Fourth of July week end.

Both men were drowned while swimming; Martin at Stone Harbor, N. J., and White at Morton Pool, Delaware County.

Martin, who was with a party of relatives, entered the surf at an unprotected beach and was drowned while attempting to rescue other members of his family who had been swept off their feet by an unexpectedly strong undertow.

Martin had already rescued his 11-year-old granddaughter, who was a member of the group. Martin's son-in-law, William I. Smith, and Smith's sister, both of Reading, Pa., also lost their lives in the tragedy.

White, son of Mrs. Katherine Hone White and the late Daniel J. White, was a student at Haverford High School. He had left home Friday morning with a group of friends to spend the day at the pool. White's friends, Joseph Sinclair, 17, of 61 Wynnewood Rd., Ardmore; John Loughlin, 16, of 817 Cricket Avenue, Ardmore; Donald McGoldrick, 17, of 624 Railroad Ave., Haverford, and Philip Reilly, 26, of 2317 Belmont Ave., Ardmore, swam in deeper water at the pool and left White swimming in the five-foot depth.

His body was discovered by another bather about 3:15 P. M. He was taken from the water and given artificial respiration for three hours by other bathers and members of the Milmont Park Fire Company and the Franklin Rescue Squad, of Chester. He was pronounced dead at 6:15 P. M., by Dr. Arthur Silver, of Chester.

Funeral services for White were held Wednesday morning. High Mass of Requiem was sung in St. ment was in St. Denis' Cemetery.

Carey received his temporary appointment two years ago.

In the open competitive tests for the job Carey received the No. 1 rating.

Carey is secretary and a member of the board of managers of the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore. He is a member of the Main Line Lions Club, the Ardmore Merchants Association and Bishop Kenrick Council, Knights of Columbus, Ardmore. He is also a member of the Cardinal Dougherty Council, and a fourth degree knight in the Philadelphia council. Carey is also a member of the Loyal Order of Red Men, Choctaw Tribe, Bryn Mawr.

He attended Lower Merion schools and worked at the Auto-car Company before being appointed postmaster.

As the result of competitive examinations, six of the present employees at the Ardmore Post Office and three new ones will receive the clerk-carrier rating. They are all veterans of the last war.

PICNIC SCHEDULED FOR ARDMORE CHURCH GROUP

A departmental picnic for the primary, junior, and youth groups of the Ardmore Methodist Church, has been scheduled for July 12 at Montgomery County Park on the Perkiomen, above Collegeville. A bus and private cars will leave the church at 9:30 A. M.

The Methodist team of the Inter-church Softball League has scheduled a game with the Lower Merion Baptists, at the Haverford School field, Tuesday evening, July 15.

STOLEN CAR FOUND BEFORE OWNER MISSED IT

A stolen automobile belonging to W. J. Richards, of Philadelphia, was recovered by Haverford Township patrolman Norman Barr, early Tuesday morning before the owner knew it was gone.

Barr discovered the 1938 Chevrolet sedan on Cobb's Creek Drive, near Haverford Rd., Ardmore Park, shortly before 3 A. M. The back end was smashed in, the two rear tires were flat and a window was broken.

Drexel Hill Threatens Narberth's Loop Lead In M. L. Test Saturday

By HARRY ELLSWORTH

By gaining a clean sweep in three games last weekend, Drexel Hill moved into a tie with Manoa for second place in the Eastern Division of the Main Line League.

The Hillers thus pulled up to within a game of Gene Davis' high-flying Narberth crew, which defeated Manoa and Gladwyne while losing to Ardmore.

Drexel Hill, currently riding a five-game winning streak, will play host to Narberth at Township Line and Burmont Rd. on Saturday, the feature game of this weekend's diamond activity.

Manager Joe Irvin, veteran mentor of the Hillers, probably will send Gene Conway (3-0) or lefty Jack Creamy (3-0) against the Borough lads, while Gene Davis is expected to counter with George Davidson (6-1) or Charlie Schreiner (1-0). Davidson blanked Gladwyne with two hits on Sunday, while Davis is the leading pitcher in the league.

Manoa, still battling to stay up in the race despite an 11-7 shellacking by Narberth on the Fourth of July, entertains Gladwyne on Saturday, and will travel to Ardmore on Sunday.

Drexel Hill and Narberth both play second-division foes on Sunday. The league-leaders entertain cellar-dwelling West Manayunk at Narberth, while Drexel Hill travels to Gladwyne to play that fifth-place team.

By winning three games while Berwyn was splitting two starts, Wayne shaved the Pirates' Western Division lead to 1½ games. In posting a run of four straight, the Italian-Americans downed Berwyn, 4-2, on Sunday as Jim Hickey scattered 10 Upper Main Line hits.

Berwyn visits West Chester on Saturday, returning home on Sunday to play Norristown. Wayne, meanwhile, entertains the Ardmore Lions on Saturday and plays Collegeville, loser of 10 straight games, on Sunday at Collegeville. The other weekend contest finds Collegeville at Norristown on Saturday.

Ardmore gained sweet revenge against Narberth on Saturday. Not only did the Lions stop the Boroughites, 5-3, but they also defeated Albie Becker. A young right-hander, Becker was center of controversy over whether Ardmore or Narberth should have his services.

Bill Yeagle, Drexel Hill coach, was tossed out of Sunday's Ardmore-Hill game by Umpire John Gillespie. Yeagle was protesting Gillespie's ruling that Larry Aigelinger was not observing the proper batting box lines.

Umpiring in the Main Line League this year has been of ex-exceptionally fine calibre, and Burt Powell, director of the arbiters, and his crew deserve a pat on the back.

Two more Main Line Leaguers have signed major league contracts. Earl Lentz, West Manayunk shortstop and one of the best shortstops in the league, signed with the Philadelphia Athletics, as did Al Papa, regular catcher on Drexel Hill's 1946 team. Both men were sent to the minors for seasoning.

Drexel Hill has signed Ernie Prudente, Friends Central athlete recently released by Ardmore, and Walt Atherholt.

Manoa announced the release of Paul Haughey, and the signing of Hen Fogel, a pitcher. Haughey worked in both the Narberth and Drexel Hill defeats this weekend.

Al Nojuna, recently cast adrift by Manoa, has signed with Ardmore. The left-handed pitcher formerly played at Temple, West Manayunk, meanwhile, signed four players—W. Koehler, L. Bohrer, T. Hoffman and P. Michaels.

Of the players that started the season with Ardmore, only Joe DeFazio and Menny Menendez remain. Larry Aigelinger is with Drexel Hill, Timmie Falcone at Berwyn, Prudente at Drexel Hill and Becker at Narberth, while Archie Digioia is shopping around for a new job.

CASEY STENGEL, A GREAT NATIONAL LEAGUE OUTFIELDER, IN HIS DAY, HAD TWO SLOTS AT BIG LEAGUE MANAGER JOBS (WITH BKLYN AND BOSTON) BUT DIDN'T WIN ANY FLAGS. — BUT HE DID KEEP HIS EX-TEAM, THE GIANTS, FROM A FLAG IN THE LAST GAME OF THE 1944 SEASON.

SPORTS SCENE

By JACK FORD

Page the A's and Phillies! Frank Eckert, of Manoa, who hurled for the Land Title Bank and Trust Co. baseball team, added a no-hit, no-run triumph to a long list of excellent pitching performances last Thursday at South Philadelphia High field.

Eckert, who hasn't allowed any more than five hits in any of the six Financial League games he's pitched this season, entered baseball's mythical Hall of Fame at the expense of Philadelphia National Bank. Land Title won by 9-0 in the seven-inning contest, during which Eckert struck out 10.

Pardon us for pointing, but has it ever occurred to the Narberth Recreation Board to erect grandstands for its Playground League basketball followers? More than 200 loyal fans turn out for the double-headers each evening, and we're certain they enjoy an opportunity to rest their weary... er, dogs.

Carlton Harkness, Narberth playground supervisor, informs us that some such move may be underway. If it isn't, why not launch a community campaign to achieve that end? Doubtless there are at least 100 Narberth residents who would willingly donate a couple dollars.

Perhaps funds also could be found for the installation of lights at the outdoor court. Then, instead of running a race with darkness, the games could be comfortably scheduled.

While we're in a campaigning (or complaining?) mood, how's about the scoreboard situation at Drexel Hill, Manoa and Wayne? These Main Line League clubs have sadly neglected this important item, and it isn't fair to the fans or players. Aside to Frank Matthews, if Manoa has erected one within the last couple weeks, we're only kidding!

Ernest Jenkins, of Narberth, won two of five events in the second annual casting contest staged by the Middle Atlantic Association of Casting Clubs last Friday in West Fairmount Park. Jenkins is a member of Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club.

LAFORES TO COMPETE IN U. S. SKEET SHOOT

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lafore, Jr., of Haverford, will compete in the national skeet championship at Syracuse, N. Y., next month.

Mrs. Lafore was runnerup in the Great Eastern skeet shoot a few weeks ago, scoring 96 out of a possible 100. Her husband is president of the National Skeet Shoot Association.

Dog Fight Looms In Montdel Loop

The four finalists in last year's Montdel Catholic League playoffs are gradually pulling away from the remainder of the field this year, but at the same time are having a half game ahead of the second-place St. Margaret's team.

No more than two games separate the four leading teams, while the first-place Good Counsel team is less than a half game ahead of the second-place St. Margaret's team.

St. Laurence is, in turn, only a game behind the Borough nine, and St. Thomas of Villanova is only a half game behind the Highland Park club.

Good Counsel split even in two games. Most staggering jolt to the Bryn Mawr nine was the 17-4 lambasting handed the leaders by St. Laurence at the Polo Field. Even in the home field, Skeets Hayes club had to come from behind with a two-run rally in the last frame to win.

St. Laurence continued its surge, which has carried right into the middle of the pennant fight, with a 7-2 decision over St. Lucy's, of W. Manayunk, at Drexel Hill Monday night.

St. Margaret's, of Narberth, champion last year, handed St. Colman a 13-1 setback. The winners combined eight hits with eight St. Colman errors and four walks to score as they pleased. Bill West stopped the losers with two hits in striking up his first win for the Narberth nine.

5 Ford Gridders Enlist in Army

Harry Williams, captain, and four other players of Haverford High's 1945 football team currently are being indoctrinated "at the Army Ground Force replacement training center at Fort Jackson, S. C."

Enlisting for an 18-month period, the quintet expressed a desire to avail themselves of the GI bill of rights in furthering their education after being discharged from the service.

Williams is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Williams, of 189 Wilson Ave., Manoa. Others are William Pittenger, son of Mrs. Gertrude P. Davidson, 1241 W. Chester Fk., Manoa; David Rodriguez, son of Mrs. Rhoda Rodriguez, of 131 Rookland Rd., Haverford; Raymond Marquette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marquette, of 412 Lincoln Ave., Manoa; and Robert Leyburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Leyburn, of 132 W. Hillcrest Ave., Oakmont.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Saturday morning will find the Main Line YMCA Baseball League busy with another triple header. The hawks will play Villanova at the Polo Field, Cardinals will meet Gladwyne at Gladwyne Park and Penn Wynne will play the Raiders at South Ardmore Park.

Last Saturday afternoon the Raiders played a team of Boy Scouts from Penn Wynne at South Ardmore park with the Raiders ending out in front 4 to 1. Joe Callahan was pitcher, allowing only two hits during the entire game. Games are scheduled for Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday of next week.

Miss Peggi Cronin of the staff returned Monday from a week's vacation at Avalon, N. J. Mrs. Adda Montgomery is spending this week there. James C. Hengst, boys' worker of the Main Line YMCA staff, and Mrs. Hengst spent last week in northeastern Pennsylvania.

Thursday the summer program for girls at the Y will include roller skating, a swim at West Branch.

The Bobby Sox Tri-Hi-Y Club will continue painting of the craft room at the Y this week and next Thursday evening will hold a meeting at the Y with vice president Jeannette Epps presiding. Further plans for the summer's activities will be made.

Young People from the Ardmore Presbyterian Church are continuing to bowl at the Y on Monday evening.

Fashion experts feature white this summer from head to toes. That means plenty of care, particularly for shoes. So get in your supply of the ol' rhinols white. And don't forget that it's good to touch up white straws, too.

When it is necessary to store citrus fruit juices, either fresh or canned, place them in covered containers and keep in the refrigerator.

Oakmont Legion Nine Ends Loop Race With Colls

Nunan-Slook Post No. 338, of Oakmont, will conclude its campaign for the Eastern Division title in the American Legion Baseball League Thursday night, meeting Collingdale at the Colls field.

Ken Kesch's charges rolled over East Lansdowne, 5-1, on Tuesday in a league game at Veterans' Park field, Brookline. The Haverforders took the measure of St. Laurence, of the Montdel League, 6-0, Thursday night as Bob Martin allowed only three hits and struck out seven.

Merion 29 Wins On Balk, 2 to 1

Merion 29 defeated the defending champion, Penn Wynne Club Pack 29, 2-1, by virtue of a balk in an exciting Main Line Club-Scout Baseball League game at Merion.

Bobby McAlaine, 10-year-old hurler who relieved tiring Jimmy Faunce in the final frame, was the unwitting victim of the balk ruling as Dick Fitzgerald scored the deciding run for Merion. Fitzgerald, who hurried for Merion, strangely lost to Penn Wynne by an identical score last year.

In another league game, Penn Wynne 155 staved off Ardmore 36's belated rally to win, 13-11. Ardmore scored nine runs in the sixth, but failed to erase an early deficit even though its pitcher, Bobby Kaufman, coulted a home run with the bases loaded.

BROILING IS EASY... ON A MODERN GAS RANGE!

A revolutionary new development in broiling brings you a gas range where the broiler burner produces infrared heat rays that penetrate rapidly to the very center of your food. And when your steak (or other food) is done uniformly throughout, you can add a nice "char" to the outer surface, if desired... Special dial setting takes guesswork out of slow-broiling, too! So, before you get your new range, see the new gas ranges at your dealer's or at the nearest Philadelphia Electric showroom. Easy broiling is only one of the many advantages you'll like about modern gas cooking!

This second prize winner in the Graflex Photo contest owes much of its success to the fact that it is needle-sharp and full of interesting texture detail. A Graflex photo by Gordon Cole, of Buffalo.

Although properly lit, this picture probably would not be successful in color because the girl's plaid coat would be too busy against the striped cushions. As a black and white picture it took a first prize in the Graflex Photo contest and was made by William Haley, of Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Extreme depth of field and correct perspective in photographs like this one by Warren Hiles, of New York City, are made possible by cameras with a tilting front standard. An Honor Award winner in the Graflex Photo contest.
